Company Description: Aquaculture Systems Technologies, LLC is the exclusive manufacturer of the Propeller Washed Bead Filters; we also manufacture Bubble Washed and the PolyGeysers Bead Filters. The filters utilize floating plastic beads in an upflow configuration to provide simultaneous mechanical and biological filtration. Compared to sand filters, bead filters are immune to biofouling, never require replacement of the bead media, minimize water usage and reduce energy cost by lowering pump head requirements. In fact, compared to high rate sand filters, bead filters comply with three of the major sustainability issues summarized in the LEED Green Building Rating System namely energy savings, reduced water loss and materials life span.

Company Description: When a small, devoted office with strong, diversified experience is what you need--Coyle & Caron LLC provides just that. Partners Quentin Caron and Sally Coyle bring together over thirty years experience in landscape architecture, habitat planning, design, art and construction. Our approach to design emphasizes the distinguished role of zoos and aquariums as leaders as well as educators in environmental husbandry, sustainability, and thematic creativity. We welcome the challenges that arise from the complex task of creating a design that results in a meaningful visitor experience, a simulating and safe environment for the animals, and a well-considered place for zoo staff to work everyday. Our habitat and rockworld design approach is unique in the design community ensuring strong appropriate habitats integrated with well-designed barriers and off-exhibit facilities.

Coyle & Caron LLC has had the privilege of working with a variety of facilities throughout North America and abroad including the Smithsonian National Zoo, Zoo New England, Mystic Aquarium, BioParc Valencia, Lisbon Aquarium, Central Park Zoo, Queens Zoo, and the Dallas Zoo.

Our company philosophy and values are rooted in the notion that we are invited guests at each of these wonderful institutions. We look at each partnership unto itself and build customized merchandise assortments and store operations teams to fit into their unique environments. Ultimately, our purpose is to extend and elevate the guest experience and achieve the maximum retail potential of our partners' cultural attractions.

As a sharp contrast to other third-party retail solution providers, Event Network focuses exclusively on retail and the results have been phenomenal. Our experience, creativity, passion and commitment to integrated partnerships have yielded extraordinary results. We guarantee our partners a higher return from retail than they have achieved on their own or with another third-party operator. We are committed to continuous improvement and to provide exemplary guest service. We love what we do and feel fortunate to be part of such an important and dynamic industry.

IEG Advisory Services works one-on-one with clients to solve their most pressing sponsorship challenges, from developing packaging and sales strategies that dramatically increase revenue for properties, to determining the right opportunities, management approaches and measurement metrics for sponsors.

Our work starts with the insight that in a world where customers are savvy, selective, and empowered, the only way to reach them is to have them reach you. This means sponsorship must be a welcome addition to customer's lives, not an unwelcome intrusion.

Our clients include leading zoos and aquariums such as the Aquarium of the Pacific, Brookfield Zoo/Chicago Zoological Society, Bronx Zoo/New York Aquarium, Calgary Zoo, Detroit Zoo, John G. Shedd Aquarium, Kansas City Zoo, Lincoln Park Zoo, Minnesota Zoo, National Aquarium in Baltimore, New England Aquarium, National Wildlife Federation, The Nature Conservancy, St. Louis Zoo and World Wildlife Federation and Wildlife Conservation Society, just to name a few.

Company Description: Moore Iacofano Goltsman, Inc. (MIG) specializes in the planning, design, and management of children's environments and programs. Since 1981, MIG has researched and documented how appropriate design and programming can support the developmental and educational needs of children. MIG has collaborated for many years with professionals in education, recreation, public health, and law enforcement; and with other organizations concerned with the welfare of children and youth. For more than 20 years, we have been dedicated to designing environments that children and their families can experience numerous times in a variety of ways.

MIG offers expertise in the entire range of environmental design issues for children and youth. We have backgrounds in child-development, landscape architecture, recreation, education, curriculum and program development, exhibition design, and environmental psychology. From concept through construction, MIG works interactively with zoo staff to create settings that are unique to the locale of the zoo. MIG was the lead design firm on the Hamill Family Play Zoo at the Brookfield Zoo, the Play Park at the Jacksonville Zoo, the Valley Children's Zoo at the Oakland Zoo, Oklahoma Children's Zoo and the Toledo Children's Zoo.

Our designs have grown out of our experience in developing experiential learning programs for children. The environments we have created serve as an educational resource, providing play and learning opportunities through direct contact with the natural world. In addition, as a nationally recognized leader in universal design, MIG incorporates accessibility and universal design concepts into every project.

MIG is headquartered in Berkeley, California, and currently maintains branch offices in Pasadena, Fullerton, and Davis, California; Portland and Eugene, Oregon; and Raleigh, North Carolina.

Company Description: Minotaur Mazes helps visitors of all ages build a connection with the world around them. Using role-play as a vital learning tool, visitors develop empathy while immersed in play.

We create dynamic learning environments built on the powerful appeal of walk-through mazes. Our traveling exhibitions empower visitors to translate education and information into action; including new forms of recreation, rewarding lifestyle changes and simple steps that positively impact their community.

Minotaur Mazes is a Seattle based company that travels around the world to create interactive and educational exhibits for adults and children alike. With each new exhibit we strive to foster curiosity, empathy, personal and global responsibility as we seek not simply to educate, but to transform the world and those who share it.

About Mazes:

Mazes are intriguing. They inspire instant curiosity, compelling visitors to investigate the mysteries within. Our Mazes infuse the traditional model of child-focused exhibits with play, sending the visitors in different directions through a self guided adventure full of rewards and consequences. This play-centered approach is teaching 'through the back door' whereby kids are too busy having fun to realize they're learning.

Company Description: ORCA focuses over 100 combined years of Disney experience to identify and define issues and develop cost-effective solutions to ensure a comfortable and positive experience for visitors through "guestology" - a science combining quantitative analytical techniques with qualitative operational assessments. Capacity and visitor flow analyses balance maximum visitor capacity with infrastructure, finding areas of opportunity to reduce congestion, improve visitor convenience, and increase penetration and conversion rates. Operational strategies help venues create efficiencies and reduce operating costs while promoting techniques that build an environment of improved employee performance and service delivery.

At ORCA, everything we do is objective focused, with a purpose toward helping clients achieve key goals by strategically analyzing each aspect of their venue's capacity, layout, and visitor experience, and then developing practical and effective solutions to optimize new facility designs, expansion plans, and existing operations. We identify critical issues with objective-based thinking, develop solutions to fix immediate problems, and prioritize strategies for the long-term. We collaborate with key stakeholders in planning actual tactics and creating measurements to evaluate progress. Our holistic approach creates a seamless visitor experience and typically results in improved satisfaction for visitors, staff, and owners.

No other firm matches ORCA's broad base of experience with venue development and operations. We bring a wealth of industry knowledge, innovative analysis techniques, and practical experience to each unique project. Since 1993, ORCA has provided quantitative and qualitative services to a variety of leisure, recreation, historic, education, commercial, cultural and entertainment clients helping owners, operators, architects, and designers to enhance facility performance, improve visitor satisfaction, and achieve their financial goals.

ORCA can perform a focused study to resolve a specific client issue or plan and manage a large project encompassing all aspects of venue designs and operation. Learn more about our services, team and project experience and how to contact us at www.orcaconsultingllc.com.

Web site: www.xanterra.com

Company Description: Xanterra Parks & Resorts is the largest operator of hotels, retail outlets and restaurants in America's national park system. Xanterra's one-of-a-kind properties, located in some of the most beautiful places on Earth, combine dramatic settings, landmark buildings and exceptional service to deliver extraordinary experiences. Xanterra operations – at eight national parks, eight state parks, and two privately-owned resorts – include the Grand Canyon, Yellowstone, Crater Lake, Death Valley, Zion, Bryce Canyon, Petrified Forest and Rocky Mountain National Parks, as well as Mount Rushmore National Memorial.

Xanterra's retail operations provide guests with the opportunity to take home a keepsake of their visit, as well as purchase museum quality handcrafts. Xanterra's predecessor, the Fred Harvey Company, is often credited with pioneering the concept of thematic merchandising. The Hopi House Gallery in Grand Canyon National Park, a National Historic Landmark that opened over 100 years ago, is a dramatic example. Guests are immersed in Puebloan Indian culture as soon as they enter this faithful re-creation of a Hopi dwelling. Authenticity is another key tenant of Xanterra's merchandising approach. One way this goal is met is by working closely with vendors to ensure that plush animals are realistic representations of the wildlife found at each location.

Xanterra's food service options range from high-volume casual quick-serve outlets to fine dining. The company has catered everything from box lunches for the Secret Service to governor's banquets. Menus are creative, while meeting many different dietary needs within a broad range of prices. In keeping with the company's overall philosophy, Xanterra has been at the forefront of the movement toward sustainable and healthy cuisine. Only seafood certified by the Marine Stewardship Council is served in Xanterra facilities, and the company strives to source products locally. Among other measures to offer healthy fare, the company has eliminated the use of all trans fat products. Food safety is paramount in the company's kitchens, and all food managers are trained by certified instructors in proper sanitation and preparation procedures.

In addition to distinguishing itself as a leader in customized thematic merchandising and quality food service, Xanterra also prides itself on being one of the greenest businesses in the concession industry. Committed to the principles of ecologically-sensitive tourism and environmentally-responsible business, Xanterra takes every opportunity to reduce any negative impacts related to its operations. Among many other initiatives, the company has installed a one megawatt solar photovoltaic system at its facility in Death Valley National Park. Since 2000, this visionary approach to business has resulted in Xanterra receiving over 40 national and international environmental awards.
